Press release

Kunsthalle Wien Artists' Market

7 December 2025, 10:00-18:00

Kunsthalle Wien will host its first Artists' Market at its premises in the Museumsquartier on Sunday, December 7, 2025. For one day only, artists are invited to sell affordable artworks as part of a special event. Over twenty artist-run stalls will offer a wide range of unique and editioned artworks, publications and multiples providing visitors the opportunity to purchase items directly from the artists. Hosted in conjunction with a lively programme at our Atelier, the Artists' Market is the place to browse for something special for yourself or a unique gift while also discovering and supporting local artists.

The selection includes drawings, prints, sculpture, ceramics, artist books and zines, many of which have been created especially for the event. Selected from an open call that attracted over 150 proposals, participants include artists, groups and artist-led spaces based in Vienna. The artworks on offer range from small objects to large prints; zines to hand-printed or -woven garments and ceramic sculpture that takes the form of fungi (by Esther Stern) or baseball caps (by Ju Aichinger). "Marktbäckerei" is a project by Oliver Collins and Simone Eisele offering pastries that promise to always look fresh. Another stall by Valerie Prinz, Eva Weber and Anna Weberberger operates under the motto Rien ne va plus, inviting customers to try their luck in a game of chance. Kunsthalle Wien's own artist editions by Richard Hawkins, Sophie von Hellermann, Ibrahim Mahama, Diego Marcon, Nora Turato and Guan Xiao will also be on sale alongside our publications, exhibition merchandise and posters.
